

Scenario: Software House

Your company is going to create a new product

How to reduce costs while creating this new product?

Initially, we must verify what's common between the already existing projects and the new one.